OVERVIEW

Tailored maintenance, administrative, facilities and building services across the block management, commercial, and insurance sectors.

Fox Group is a Buckinghamshire-based, created to meet the need for proficiency, reliability, and a partner who understands the day-to-day challenges of property and facilities management. We're not just about tools and trades, we bring professionalism, clear communication, and reliability to every job. Today, we deliver tailored maintenance, administrative, facilities, and building services across the block management, commercial, and insurance sectors.

With a foundation in real-world property management experience, we understand the pressures of balancing routine and reactive works on communal buildings, all while navigating legislation, stakeholders, and budgets. Our mission is simple: remove those pressures and provide a trusted, dependable service that delivers peace of mind and consistent results. Whether you're a Property Manager, Facilities Director, or Claims Handler, Fox Group is here to be the reliable partner you can count on.

OUR TEAM

Building and Cleaning Teams

Behind every successful project at Fox Group is a dedicated team of maintenance and cleaning professionals who take real pride in their work. Our people are as varied as the jobs we take on — a mix of passionate, green-fingered gardeners, keen footballers, avid readers, skilled DIYers, friendly socialites, and even one bilingual team member.

Different personalities, same goal — to do a good job and take satisfaction in a day's work well done. There's a shared culture of kindness and high standards, not just in the work we deliver, but in how we treat one another. It's that attitude and mutual respect that make our team what it is.

Operations Manager

Jessica joined Fox Group as our very first administrative recruit and has grown with the business ever since. Now our Operations Manager, she plays a key role in keeping everything running smoothly.

With a passion for scheduling, organisation, and maintaining order, Jessica ensures that every job and every team member is in the right place at the right time. Her attention to detail and commitment to efficiency make her an invaluable part of the Fox Group team.

Outside of work, Jessica enjoys spending time with her husband and daughter at the local park or getting lost in the worlds she creates while writing her own fictional books.

Our Directors

Christian and Kate founded Fox in 2017. What started with Christian working alone with a broom and shovel in hand, sweeping out bin stores, has grown under their joint leadership into the broad service offering of holistic building services. Together, they combine hands-on experience with a clear vision for professionalism, reliability, and steady growth, shaping Fox Group into the business it is today.

When not deep into work, Christian and Kate's time is happily filled by their two daughters and their dog, Milo. The family can usually be found out walking in the countryside, or, when the parents find a bit of space — in the gym.
